

ADDRESSES HER COLORED SISTERS.

Mrs. W. W. Taylor, President of The Federation, Makes an Impressive Talk.

PURPOSE OF THE ORGANIZATION

To Bring Colored Women Closer Together for Mutual Benefit—Committees Named.

At the afternoon session of the Western Federation of Colored Women, held yesterday, the principal feature was the address of the permanent president, Mrs. W. W. Taylor, which covered the subject and purpose of the organization in a decidedly complete manner. The address contained many good and timely suggestions to the colored women, and was delivered in a very earnest and impressive manner, being enthusiastically received by the delegates present.

MRS. TAYLOR'S ADDRESS.

"I deem it a great privilege, as well as a great honor, to have the opportunity to meet you in this grand movement. Looking back to about six weeks ago, when this organization was first organized, and to see you here earnestly engaged in this work, it seems more than a dream that a reality. It is a great day for us and brightens the way of our girls, our future work, teachers and mothers of the race. This is not our struggle alone, because we are only bearing the brunt of the battle of others to come, who will be the necessity of organization. If we Western Federation of Colored Women can do the work that it intends to do, it will not only better the conditions of our homes, our girls and our race, but the entire West will be benefited, helped and respected by every good, far-reaching citizen."

"I trust you will accept these plain words in the spirit in which they are intended. I lay no claim to color, and say nothing of race, but I believe in getting down to business and doing practical work, and my chief aim is to get something that will encourage you to press on in this effort, and not get discouraged. A sure and certain future is before you, and review of what you have already accomplished will tend to give you people in this Western country."

PROUD OF MOVEMENT.

"I am truly proud of this movement, being a true woman I have looked with some upon the condition of our women for many years, and I believe that colored women should stand together more than any other class of colored women in the world for many years."

"As daughters, our fathers were in a position to give us the advantages that were necessary for life's journey for the future, it is too well known the conditions surrounding our childhood. Many of our parents died at that time have the right of citizenship, therefore could not do any for us than that did."

SOMEWHAT HANDICAPPED.

"Fourth—Our cares as wives and mothers have been more arduous than that of our husbands have not the same advantage of plenty of work, good and paying, positions like their more favored brothers, the salaries where every avenue of labor is open to him; so we have had to help carry the burden in the support of the family, and thereby have had but little time to think of the great advantages of organized forces. We have been busy to see the lasting benefit the federations have been to our more favored sisters."

"With the hope we have come to the end of a closer union, where we can truly understand the meanings of those words that have made our hearts beat so often. Lord, each other's cross to bear." In my estimation, there is

MELLIN'S FOOD CO., BOSTON, MASS.

No class of women that needs each other's help so much as we as mothers, and especially the young mothers of today, who seem to be utterly incapable of managing their offspring; that to me it's a question of what the rising generation will be. When we pause and think of the growing tendency on the part of our young married women to tamper with nature, and to end their earthly existence rather than to become mothers, I say with deep emotion young womanhood, and think how much they need help. Therefore, my heart and soul are with this federation, the object of which is to bring and bind our women together in a helpful way.

"Sixth—I have noticed that organization among men began in the early ages, but not until the last quarter of the nineteenth century did women bind themselves together in mutual helpfulness for united effort. The principle organization is inspiring; it causes the reaching out of one soul in aid and comfort for another. The club movement is a part of the great educational ideal that was first conceived in the entire country. I noticed with pleasure the organizing of a state federation for Colorado, at Colorado Springs, and the following message was forwarded to me:

"945 Van Buren Avenue, Pueblo, Colo., June 2, 1904.—My dear Mrs. Taylor:—We, the colored women of Colorado, in our first meeting of the state federation, highly endorse your motive to organize a Western Federation of Women's Clubs."

"MRS. IDA JOYCE JACKSON, President."

"Fannie Elliott, Corresponding Secretary."

PEEP INTO THE FUTURE.

"In reply to this kind indorsement I will say, may God bless the noble women of Colorado, may they ever and timely action be an everlasting incentive to all the women of the western states. Since such organization has been helpful to the white women, they will be equally beneficial to colored women, if the white women, with all their knowledge, which is power, and their wealth, which is influence, feel the need of such organizations, how much so ought we, who need not only the congenial companionship, but that loyal devotion that will bind us together in that helpful way that will lift each other up on higher ground, that our children and our children's children may have brighter and higher aspirations, may achieve greater success, and that unborn generations may be inspired to greater aggressiveness from the results of our organizations. And 25 years hence, as this organization shall wend its way and our race will get a hearing, the muse of history will put forth her pen to glorify Brutus for the Romans, Hampden for the English, Lafayette for the French, Lincoln as the bright, consummate flower of our earlier civilization, and B. T. Washington the Moses of the Southland. Then, dipping her pen in the sunlight, she will write in the clear blue above them all, the name of the Western Federation of Colored Women, for the upbuilding of the colored women of the West."

Addressess heartily endorsing the statements made by the president and containing words of encouragement to the colored women, were made by Rev. W. E. Helm of Denver, H. H. Voss and W. W. Taylor of this city, and nearly all of the delegates present.

PATENT MEDICINES.

A man that compounds or invents something that is just a little better than the next best thing is certainly entitled to the best share of the profits. We have 29 years of trial behind us to give us the assurance that we have the best medicine compound for the cure of dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, indigestion and all stomach disorders. We protect the public as well as ourselves by keeping the formula a secret, as long as we make it, we know it is made right and it cures these diseases. Druggists tell us that it is the one medicine that has been used for the increase. To get the best remedy for dyspepsia or indigestion ask the druggist for Dr. Dunn's Improved Liver Pills, price 25c. per box, only one for a dose.

NEW MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD

Mathoniah Thomas Succeeds B. S. Young from the Fourth Precinct.

E. C. WOOLLEY JR. DEFEATED.

Board Discusses the Matter of Employing an Art Supervisor—More Teachers Engaged.

Mathoniah Thomas, the well known young attorney, was elected by the board of education last evening to succeed B. S. Young as a member of that body from the Fourth precinct. His selection was by a vote of 7 to 2, the minority voting for E. C. Woolley, who was presented by Mr. George H. Mr. Thomas' name was presented by Judge Henderson.

Mr. Thomas is a young man, and very popular. In politics, he is a Democrat. He was born in Aberdeen, South Wales, July 20, 1872, and about six years later came with his parents to Utah. For a time the family resided in Salt Lake, but finally moved to Farmington, where his mother now lives. Mr. Thomas was educated in the common schools and University of Utah until he was ready to enter the law division of the University of Michigan. He graduated from that institution in 1900, and has practiced law in Salt Lake ever since. Two years ago he was a candidate for city judge but was defeated with the rest of his ticket.

The selection of Mr. Thomas is highly pleasing to his many friends and he himself fully appreciates the honor. "It shall be my highest aim to perpetuate the good name which the schools of Salt Lake now enjoy," said he. "The office is one that any man might feel proud of, and I realize that a high honor has been conferred upon me. I will do my best to serve the city well in my new capacity."

ART IN THE SCHOOLS.

In executive session the board took up the matter of employing an art supervisor, but it was not acted upon. The names of Miss Mary Treadwell and D. W. Parrott were before the board for the position. One side opposed the creation of such an office because of the additional expense while the other members insisted that it would add greatly to the school system. After some discussion the whole thing was put over until another time. The members will, in the meanwhile, ascertain whether the finances of the board will permit of the creation of another office.

MORE TEACHERS EMPLOYED.

The board elected Archibald Kessler assistant in the department of manual training and also employed the following teachers: Grady—Charles E. Elberbeck, Eugene Gahrbruth, Alice Stimmel, Florence Christensen, Thomas Howell, Lisa Woodcock, High School—Max U. Critchlow, Rose M. Cassidy. Miss Nellie R. Quinn was awarded a first grade normal school certificate.

ON BUILDING COMMITTEE.

Joseph Geoghegan was appointed chairman of the building and grounds committee to succeed Mr. Young. It was decided to devote six additional rooms to manual training. An appropriation of $23,000 was passed, all but $1,000 being for the La Fayette school. The members of the board were informed that they have the right to name the contents of the school census.

THE FALL WAS FATAL.

Russell Love Dies From His Injuries Without Regaining Consciousness.

Russell Love, the 15-year-old son of Stephen H. Love, traffic manager of Z. C. M. I., residing at 1224 Seventh East street, did not recover consciousness, and died shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The story of the accident was told in the "News" last night, and from the time the boy was picked up after his fall over the bridge, at the corner of Fifteenth South and Seventh East, Dr. J. S. Richards entertained but faint hopes of recovery. Russell was the oldest of a family of 11, was an exceptionally bright boy and universally loved by his schoolmates at Forest Hill school. His tragic death came as a great blow to his parents who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The funeral services will be held at the Forest Hill meetinghouse tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Particulars of the Killing of Frank Ballard at Tacker.

Special Correspondence. Tucker, July 4.—Frank Ballard, the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ballard of this place, was accidentally killed here at 12 o'clock noon today. Young Ballard, with some other boys, loaded a small can with powder and mud. While Ballard was engaged in lighting the fuse a spark from the match dropped in the can where some powder was lying, causing an explosion. The can struck Young Ballard under the chin, cutting his chin and throat and causing concussion of the brain which was the cause of death. He was carried to a nearby house where he passed away in a few minutes. The remains will be interred in the Tucker cemetery tomorrow at 1 o'clock.

CROPS DOING WELL.

Storms Did Some Damage but Supplied Much Needed Moisture.

According to the weekly crop bulletin, just issued by the Utah section, U. S. department of agriculture, clear weather generally prevailed during the fore part of the week, with the days rather warm and the nights cool. Stormy, unsettled weather prevailed during the latter part. On the 1st, severe thunderstorms occurred over the northern half of the section. These were, in many cases, accompanied by high winds and heavy hail, which did some local damage by flattening down the grain and cutting fruit and tender vegetation. Near the section center the storm assumed the proportions of a small cloud-burst and considerable local damage was done by the rushing waters from a nearby canyon. These storms were, however, on the whole of great benefit, as they supplied moisture that in many localities was much needed. The weather during the week was favorable for rapid growth and all crops made considerable advances. Fall wheat and early-sown spring wheat were heading out and harvesting will soon begin. Indications pointed to good yields. The condition of corn was, in general, not up to average, as the crop appears to have suffered some deterioration from the effects of the brief cold period of the previous week. The first crop of alfalfa was being secured in good condition. The yields generally were above average, both in quantity and quality. Fruit appears to have also been damaged in localities by the light frosts of the previous week, but was rapidly recovering under the effects of the favorable weather and prospects are now generally bright and encouraging. New potatoes were maturing rapidly and being marketed. Ranges were in very good condition and stock was thriving. Irrigation water was plentiful and holding out well.

The remains of Charles Eakle Folsom, the young man whose death was announced a day or two ago, were tenderly laid to rest yesterday afternoon. The service was held from the Fourteenth ward meetinghouse, Counselor Thomas E. Taylor presiding, and the music was by the ward choir, the Butler quartet and Mrs. Margie Hull, who rendered selections appropriate to the occasion. Elder Joseph Hodgins offered the opening prayer and the speakers were Bishop G. R. Jones, Elder Solomon P. Kimball and Patriarch August M. Cannon, who uttered words of comfort and consolation to the bereaved, and spoke of the hope of an eternal inheritance beyond the grave. The quartet composed of Thomas Butler, Lottie Owen, Julia Jones and Samuel Doney, rendered sweetly. "There was a profusion of beautiful floral emblems and a large number of sympathizing friends and friends followed the remains to the city cemetery, where the thanks of the family were expressed to those assembled, and the grave was dedicated by Elder Thomas E. Taylor.
